

11. Is the electronegativity related to the size of the atom? Explain in terms of the attraction force between protons and electrons.

Yes, because it attracts the electrons to the atom.

In class explanation: the smaller the atom in a family, the greater its electronegativity. A small atom has a stronger force of attraction for its own electrons and for other atoms' electrons.